SMITH TALKS TONIGHT ON TEAPOT DOME

Brown Derby Is Out in the Wide Open Spaces Today

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Governor Smith's train enroute to Helena, Mont., Sept. 24—(AP)—Well satisfied with his first "weeks work" as a presidential campaigner, Governor Smith came into Montana today to take another shot at his Republican opposition—on the subject of party responsibility, the oil scandals will be an allied target.

Leaving behind speeches on farm relief, intolerance and whispering and water power, in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado, the Democratic presidential nominee, after a day and night ride through northern Colorado and Wyoming, was headed across the wide open spaces for the heart of Montana, where tonight at Helena he will open his second week's stumping tour of the middle and far west. He was due in the capitol at 4:40 P. M. mountain time.

A big crowd is expected to turn out for the address, as thousands are in Helena attending the state fair and many of these are looked upon to swell the audience. Governor Smith will visit the fair immediately after his arrival.

On the platform in Helena tonight will be Senator Thomas J. Walsh, prosecutor of the oil investigations in Washington, who will introduce the nominee, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who was a driving force in the inquiry into the administration of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

Members of the Smith party had made no secret of the fact that they believed the Governor's speech tonight would be one of the strongest and most sharply worded of his campaign. Gov. Smith had stated that he would speak plainly and frankly on the subject of Teapot Dome and again would lock horns with Herbert Hoover on the subject of party obligations.

After reading newspaper accounts of the Republican presidential candidate's remarks Saturday in Washington to a visiting delegation of Republicans from Maryland, Governor Smith told newspaper men at a press conference on the train yesterday afternoon that at Helena he would "vigorously challenge the statement that the Republican party has always been a constructive, progressive party."

"Will you talk on corruption?" he was asked.

"I don't like that word, but 'party responsibility' makes it necessary," the Governor replied.

Montana will be the farthest west Governor Smith will travel during the campaign.

Governor Smith's address tonight was scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock, Mountain Time, which is 10 o'clock Eastern Standard Time. More than 30 radio stations, including those of the Columbia broadcasting chain and 16 independent stations will be tied up for an hour to carry the speech from coast to coast.

After an overnight stay in Helena, the Smith party will backtrack over part of the Montana route covered last night and today and make several stops for rear platform appearances by the nominee. One of these will be at Billings, home town of Senator Wheeler and where he at one time served as District Attorney. Mr. Kremer has predicted that one of the wildest demonstrations ever accorded a political candidate will take place at that mining center, where the train will be turned over to the northern Pacific for the trip eastward to the Twin Cities of Minnesota.

Bozeman and Livingston will be other Montana stops tomorrow evening.

HOOVER NOT DISTRACTED BY WHISPERS

Democratic Charge is Proven False—Hoover Ignores It

BY JAMES L. WEST

(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—Resolutely ignoring all open and under cover attacks upon him, Herbert Hoover is pursuing his course of conducting a campaign in favor of the issues and the candidates of the Republican party and keeping clear of distracting controversies.

His determination in this respect was given public expression again Saturday in a short talk to former service men who called on him here and was reiterated yesterday in his intimates in connection with an attack made upon him by Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, who charged hypocrisy in connection with the nominee's declaration for constitutional prohibition.

Does Not Drink
Before the Bruce charge had been called to the attention of the Republican presidential nominee, his secretary, George Akerson, had denied it, declaring that not only had Hoover never taken a drink with Clarence Darrow, as the Maryland senator averred, but had not "taken a single drink of intoxicating liquor since he became a constitutional executive officer of the United States and has never had a drop of liquor served at his home."

Darrow, at his home in Chicago, added his denial, and it was indicated that the matter would rest there so far as Hoover headquarters are concerned.

Having passed the half way mark in the campaign, counting his acceptance speech as the opening of his fight for the presidency, Hoover had behind him three of the six major addresses he has mapped out before beginning the return trip to his Stanford University home in California, where he began his fight with his acceptance address on August 11. The other two were delivered at his West Branch, Iowa, birthplace, and Newark, N. J.

The rough draft of the fourth address, to be delivered at Elizabethton, Tenn., on October 6, was completed today.

The fifth speech will be at New York on October 16 and the sixth at Boston, probably some time between October 22 and 25.

Hurrying back to Washington from Boston, the candidate will clean up affairs here and set out around October 29 for the long run back to Stanford University where he will vote on November 6.

Hoover had no engagements for today and planned to put in most of his time redrafting his Elizabethton address.

REHABILITATION IS GREAT PROBLEM IN STRICKEN DISTRICT

Cremate Victims of Florida Storm—Never Know Death Toll

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 24—(AP)—Rehabilitation needs crowded the picture of emergency relief today in the hurricane stricken area of Florida.

While caring for the immediate needs of the thousands of homeless, officials looked forward to measures for re-establishing the refugees and furnishing them a new start until they can pick up their own burdens.

Count of the dead went on, but relief workers said there was no assurance the actual death toll ever would be known.

Must Cremate Many
Unable to get bodies outside of the flooded area for burial, they are cremating many of them. Official estimates variously placed the death list at 1,200 to 1,500. Additional bodies constantly are being found.

Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach County Red Cross committee said his chapter was ready to request formally that the National Red Cross take over all relief work.

With 28 workers already in the field, A. L. Schaffer, director of disaster relief for Florida said others were enroute.

New stories of tragedy came daily from the devastated area. The Red Cross announced receipt of reports that 400 bodies of the inhabitants of Pelican Bay, a sugar cane village, have been located a week after the hurricane tore the settlement.

This discovery, said Schaffer fixed the Red Cross' official death list at 1,200 persons.

Speed Rescue Work
Florida cities were speeding additional supplies and personnel. Boats and trucks offered the most feasible means of transporting relief to the tier of razed towns along the shores of Lake Okechobee.

At Palm Beach and West Palm Beach, carpenters sought to repair the damage from the terrific winds and enable the communities to get back to work as much as possible.

Many stores, closed during the past week, planned to open again.

Crop Problem Serious
The problem of rehabilitation of farms, worried relief forces. Estimates made by Fred H. Harris of Miami, for the federal government said that the farm loss had been approximately $2,500,000 in Brevard and Palm Beach counties, and that a minimum of $300,000 was required to assure that there will be a winter crop.

O. C. Geiger, who was dispatched into the storm area of Lake Okechobee by Chairman Selby, reported that he estimated the death toll at negroes, mostly laborers, and 700 white persons. He counted a loss of property at 95 percent and said that 98 percent of the live stock and poultry had perished.

YOUNG JAP SAYS HE WANTS TO DIE FOR HIS BRUTAL CRIME

Admits Killing Honolulu Lad—Studied Famous Crimes

Honolulu, Sept. 24—(AP)—A studious young Japanese, Miles Yutaka Fukunaga, who has confessed the kidnaping and murder of 10-year-old Gil Jamieson and avowedly wishes to die for his crime was under heavy guard in his jail cell here today as he awaited the legal proceedings by which he expects to be put to death.

Fukunaga, who is 19 years old, and who graduated from high school here at the head of his class, confessed Saturday night after officers had traced him by means of ident five dollar bills paid to the kidnaper by Frederick W. Jamieson, banker, father of the slain boy.

Although feeling ran high among the populace when it was learned that the slayer had been apprehended, possibility of vigilante action seemingly waned today.

Disperse Crowds with Water
Crowds gathered around the Oahu jail yesterday after details of Fukunaga's confession had been published and firemen were called upon to play streams of cold water on them when the pleas of peace officers failed to bring dispersal. The water was effective.

Fukunaga seemed unconcerned about the murmurings of the crowd in his life he feared the prospect of death. He insisted, however, that he wanted to die because "my crime was awful. I don't want to live because I would hear the screams of the child the rest of my life."

Fukunaga said he would plead guilty to a murder charge. A grand jury was ordered to meet today to consider the case and it was expected that an indictment would be forthcoming at once.

Inspired by Other Murders
The young kidnaper revealed that he had studied the crimes of Leopold and Loeb, Chicago "thrill slayers," and of William Hickman, killer of Marian Parker of Los Angeles. The Jamieson kidnaping and slaying resembled the Los Angeles case in many respects.

In an interview Fukunaga gave the reason for his crime by saying he wanted money to give his parents so they could return to Japan, but reluctantly admitted revenge prompted his act. He said the Hawaiian Trust Company, of which Jamieson is Vice President, owned his mother's home, and had pressed her for back rental.

In kidnaping his victim Fukunaga followed the tactics of Hickman, getting the youth away from school on the pretext that his mother had been injured.

Offered to Aid Police
He told officers that he appeared at police headquarters last Wednesday and offered his services in the hunt for the kidnaper. He was rejected because of his small stature. He said his ambition had been to become a writer of romantic fiction.

"Crime," the prisoner admitted, "never pays."

The prisoner, who said he was not insane, revealed that he sent flowers to the funeral of his victim, along with a card signed "the three kings" the same symbol used in a ransom note to the father last Tuesday. He admitted he paid for the flowers with one of the identified $5 bills, which was the first to come into the hands of the police.

ROCHELLE HAVING DIAMOND JUBILEE WITH BIG PROGRAM

Tomorrow Is the 75th Birthday of Founding of the City

Rochelle will be 75 years old tomorrow and the citizens of that place are now engaged in a five-day birthday celebration of the diamond jubilee which it is expected will surpass anything the city has ever attempted. It is to be more than a home coming, more than a fall festival and more than a county fair, with the exception of horse racing, and that is no oversight, for there is no race track at Rochelle.

Daily programs will start early in the morning and continue well into the night, with something done every minute. The celebration started yesterday when former pastors of many of the churches of the city occupied their old pulpits. Wednesday program will be featured by a political address by Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton, an assistant attorney general, and some Democratic speaker, as yet undetermined, will also deliver an address.

Today a pageant, in which hundreds of Rochelle citizens participated, was given, picturing the growth of Rochelle from the time it was a tiny settlement known as Lane's Village, until the present.

Joe E. Miller, George Burch and Arthur Miller returned home Sunday from a very successful week's fishing trip to the lakes in the vicinity of Phillips, Wis.

120 DEAD IN PANIC WHEN FIRE STARTS

Madrid Theater Fire Brings Long List of Dead and Injured

Madrid, Sept. 24—(AP)—Approximately 120 persons were officially estimated today to have been trapped and perished in the Novedades Theater when it caught fire during a crowded Sunday evening performance.

The injured were estimated at more than 350. Exact figures have not been established because dense smoke coming from the smoldering ruins prevented the authorities from learning how many bodies were yet to be extricated.

Most of the victims were not burned but were either suffocated or crushed during the stampede for the exits.

Bodies were being taken from some sections of the ruins this morning and soldiers with fixed bayonets kept back a large crowd of anguished persons who clamored for news of relatives and friends.

A family in Chambers, a suburb, reported 18 members missing, but it was believed that they might have passed the night with friends. Doctors worked all night in the hospitals and dressing stations.

Blaze Starts on Stage
The blaze started during a storm scene on the stage. The theater, which is one of the largest in Madrid held 400 persons and it was crowded to capacity for a performance of "Le Mejor Del Puerto."

Electrical sparks ignited the ropes of part of the scenery and the flames spread rapidly to other parts of the stage setting.

As the curtains in front burst into flames, there was a mad rush for the exits. Men, women and children were trampled in the stampede. The theater was equipped with modern precautions against fire but it was very old and the wooden framework burned rapidly.

People massed in the narrow aisles, frantically fighting their way to the three exits at the front of the building.

Soon these exits were choked with the struggling mass and many were blocked from escaping from the galleries.

CHILDREN FOUND ALIVE
London, Sept. 24—(AP)—The correspondent of the Evening News telephoning from Madrid, stated that several children were found alive in the ruins of the Novedades Theater. They had fallen on them and protected them from the flames and from being trampled on during the ensuing panic.

Reuters dispatch from Madrid says that 85 bodies had been recovered this morning from the ruins of the Novedades theater in Madrid.

In all 360 persons were taken to hospitals, many of them seriously injured.

Ministers Enjoy A Day At White Rock

Between thirty and forty ministers of Dixon, Lee, Oglesby and Whiteside counties were in attendance at the Ministers' Retreat at White Rock, near Grand Detour today, the guests of the Dixon Ministerial Association, which arranged the affair. The pastors met at the Y. M. C. A. and went to their Retreat in a body, where the morning was given over to a paper on "The Joys of a Christian Minister," prepared and read by Rev. J. Franklin Young, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dixon, followed by a prayer hour in charge of Rev. A. T. Stephenson, pastor of the Dixon Methodist Episcopal church.

Lunch was served at 12:30, and the afternoon consisted of presentations and discussion of two subjects: "The Minister and the Transmission of the Spiritual Power," by Rev. D. P. Bair of Polo; and "The Minister and His Prayer Life," by Rev. E. C. Harris, D. D. of Sterling.

Secretary Of War Through Dixon On Wednesday Next

Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, will be a visitor in Dixon for a few minutes Wednesday, enroute from Rockford to LaSalle, in company with Congressman John T. Buckbee of Rockford, a close friend of John H. Byers, secretary of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, and the two will stop for a few minutes chat with the Dixon man, who is also secretary to Congressman William P. Johnson of this district.

The War Secretary will go to LaSalle to inspect available sites for harbor terminal on the proposed Illinois waterway development and also to study flood conditions. Mr. Davis will deliver an address at a meeting of LaSalle, Peru and Oglesby citizens at a luncheon at the Kasaskia hotel in LaSalle. After the LaSalle conference he will board a train for the Peru docks for an inspection trip along the Illinois river and on to St. Louis.

State's Attorney Mark C. Keller conducted an investigation into the case this morning after which he requested that the September grand jury be ordered to return Wednesday and take action in the case.

The young girl was released to her parents this morning and allowed to return home until such time as she will be required to appear before the grand jury to tell her story.

Marqua, it was reported, had made the acquaintance of the girl while the crew of laborers of which he was a member, was located at Franklin Grove last July, and according to her statement to the state's attorney was guilty of a statutory offense during that time.

CONTRIBUTIONS COMING IN FOR STORM VICTIMS

$700 Needed for Hurricane Relief

Officers of the Lee County Chapter, American Red Cross, are hopeful that this county's quota of $700 for the relief of the victims of the recent storms in Florida and Porto Rico will be speedily subscribed, their optimism being occasioned by the response to the appeal, which was not published until it appeared in The Telegraph Saturday evening.

Early this morning three nice contributions had been reported to the treasurer of the Lee Co. Chapter, W. C. Durkes, president of the City National Bank, and it is felt that when the need of aid for the suffering fellow citizens is generally known throughout the county, the response will be such that this county can take its place among the first to respond to the call.

The American Red Cross has appealed for a minimum of $5,000,000 to take care of the immediate wants of the storm-sufferers, and President Calvin Coolidge has issued a proclamation asking the people of this country to promptly subscribe that amount, in order that needless loss of human life may be avoided, that disease and pestilence may be combated and that rehabilitation of property may proceed as rapidly as is possible.

Lee county's quota was first placed at $350, but as the almost unbelievable toll of the storms became known, the American Red Cross found that its original estimate was little more than half of what would be needed. Accordingly the quota of every Chapter of the organization was promptly doubled.

Lee county chapter has no advantage of radio with which to appeal for its quota, such as the chapters in the larger cities have. Only through the newspapers and by word of mouth to members and their friends can the situation be broadcast.

A contribution, be it large or ever so little—to help those whose every-thing has been wiped out by storm, who are in need of food and medical attention, who face certain death if the brotherly love of the rest of the country does not manifest itself—can be left at any bank in the county, where due acknowledgment of receipt will be given.

The Telegraph hopes to be able to present the total of the amount subscribed in Lee county up until the close of business in the various banks of the county this afternoon.

YOUNG MEXICAN IS ARRESTED SUNDAY; GRAND JURY TO ACT

Relations With a Young Girl Subject of Inquiry Wednesday

The grand jury for the September term of the circuit court was today ordered to report to Judge Harry Edwards Wednesday to conduct further investigation as the result of the arrest of Miguel Marqua, aged 22, a Mexican laborer in Franklin Grove Sunday morning by deputies from the sheriff's office. Marqua is being held in the county jail pending the action of the grand jury.

A 15 year old girl residing south of Franklin Grove was sent home to her parents this morning after being detained at the county jail for questioning since early Sunday morning. Marqua, who is a member of a crew of Mexican laborers in the employ of the North-Western at Malta came to Franklin Grove Saturday night and met the girl. They spent the night in the vicinity of the stockyards east of the depot until they were taken in custody early Sunday morning. The girl is said to have made a statement which implicates Marqua on a statutory charge of a very serious nature.

State's Attorney Mark C. Keller conducted an investigation into the case this morning after which he requested that the September grand jury be ordered to return Wednesday and take action in the case.

en States to prevent amendment, that is to prevent the repeal of the 18th Amendment. From the brief history of the movement given, it is fairly evident that though it took nearly one hundred years to bring about prohibition in the United States, now that we have it, it is here to stay.

"There are those who prefer a categorical statement by a Candidate on a particular subject, therefore, this statement. Rightly or wrongly the Prohibition question has been brought into this campaign by the Democrats.

"The Republican platform pledges the party to the faithful enforcement and vigorous execution of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution. I fully concur in that plank. Strict enforcement of the law, while it is the law, has always been my creed. Without popular respect for the law there can be no freedom of justice under it. My record as prosecuting attorney for Shawnee County, Kansas, back in the eighties shows clearly that I believe in and practice law enforcement. Within a month after my election every saloon in my district was closed and remained closed while I was in office.

"I do not favor the repeal of the 18th Amendment or of the Volstead Act, nor do I favor amending that Act to permit individual states to determine for themselves the percentage of alcoholic content which constitutes an intoxicating beverage. Control of the liquor question is a duty which was expressly delegated to and accepted by the Federal Government, by every State in the Union except Connecticut and Rhode Island. There should be no attempt to evade that duty so accepted or to redelegate it to the States. To the best of my knowledge and belief there is no such widespread demand throughout the country as a whole which would justify the Federal Government in taking other action.

"There is a clamor for repeal or amendment of the prohibition law out of all proportion to the number making it. They would have the majority adopt a system of government control and distribution of liquor similar to that now in vogue in Canada, the dispensary system. I am opposed to the Federal Government, or any State going into the liquor business. Nor do I believe such a system could or would be effective or successful if adopted. But you do not have to accept my opinion. I quote you from an article by Hon. Daniel C. Roper, formerly Commissioner of Internal Revenue under the Wilson administration, regarding the operation of the dispensary system in South Carolina. By virtue of his experience and his familiarity with North and South Carolina he was well qualified to form and express an opinion on this system.

"After showing that the Dispensary System as applied to the liquor question in South Carolina resulted in fraud, corruption and graft in government; immorality and lawlessness among the people; eventually in actual rebellion and bloodshed, necessitating the ending of that system and the establishment of State-wide prohibition on January 1, 1916, he says:

"Nevertheless, there is sound philosophy in the statement that the South Carolina Dispensary law rendered a service to the people of that State as well as of the nation by demonstrating as probably could not have been done in any other way, the fallacy of the State monopoly method of handling the liquor question. In this, the dispensary system cleared the way for the onward march of prohibition. If South Carolina had not tried out the experiment and furnished its practical demonstration, the advocates of the State monopoly would have continued to urge that their plan be given a trial. This naturally would have delayed the final settlement of the issue."

(Contained in the Proceedings of the 15th International Congress against Alcoholism—September 21-26, 1920).

"The Constitution of the United States is the keystone of our national strength, our pride in the hour of prosperity, our consolation and rallying point under every pressure of adversity; and whoever seriously wishes to preserve our Constitution in its full purity and vigor must of necessity wish to have all its Articles and Amendments honestly obeyed and faithfully enforced."

Nachusa Couple Celebrated Their Sixty-fifth Anniversary

On Sept. 17, 1928, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Parker of Nachusa quietly passed the sixty-fifth milestone on their journey of life together.

This is an event seldom occurring in the lives of two people; and Mr. and Mrs. Parker are to be congratulated on their health and activity at this time. Both of the elderly couple are enjoying good health, and are taking a lively interest in all the affairs of their community and the world at large.

Mr. Parker was born in Grant Co., Ind., on a farm near Marion, June 5th, 1844. At about six years of age he moved with his parents to Kosciusko Co., Ind. It was here he met Mary Johnson, who was later to become his bride.

Mr. Parker was born in Randolph Co., Ind., also on a farm near Losantville, Nov. 16, 1846. From here her family moved to Kosciusko Co., Ind. on Sept. 17, 1863, the young couple were united in marriage by Rev. Richard Slyter, pastor of the M. E. church of Warsaw, Ind. The wedding took place at the country home of the bride's father. Later, in Sept. 1869, they came to Illinois and settled in Lee County, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Parker is of English descent, her father and his forefathers coming from North Carolina; and the Hyatt's, her maternal grandparents came from England.

Mr. Parker's antecedents are of German extraction. His father was born in Ohio, and his mother, who was Jennie Weimer, being born in Pennsylvania.

The couple are made happy by the love and care of six daughters: Mrs. M. A. Herrick of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. T. W. Brown of Franklin Grove, Ill.; Mrs. O. R. Eicholtz of Nachusa, Ill.; Mrs. W. F. Weeden of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. J. M. Speed of New Orleans, La.; and Mrs. J. P. Johnson of Nachusa, Ill. They have thirteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

On Sunday, Sept. 16, their daughter, Mrs. Brown gave a dinner in their honor and they remained to spend a few days with her in her home. They were remembered with numerous greetings and congratulations and the wishes of hosts of friends for many more years of happy wedded life.

It is a great pleasure to see a couple who have passed through so many years together and who are still able to maintain and keep their own home, being hale and hearty, seldom needing the care of a physician, and alert to all about them. The whole community joins in good wishes and congratulations to these two of Lee county's oldest and highly esteemed citizens.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Casaba melon, cereal, vegetable hash, graham muffins with dates, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked Mexican corn, cabbage and carrot salad, brown bread and butter, chocolate drop cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled minced lamb cutlets, scalloped potatoes and onions, corn salad, baked pears with chocolate sauce, milk, coffee.

Many children around five years of age appear their pangs of hunger by quickly drinking the prescribed glass of milk and then fussing and playing with the necessary solid food. One way to overcome this habit is to wait until the vegetables and bread and butter have been disposed of before serving the child his milk. Then the bait of a cookie with the milk makes it "go down" happily.

Baked Mexican Corn
Two cups chopped tomatoes, 1 cup corn cut in cob, 1 cup corn meal, 1-2 cup stoned raisins, 1 cup chopped veal 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 11-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon white pepper.

Mix tomatoes, corn, meat, olives, and cornmeal. Beat eggs well and add to first mixture with onion, parsley, salt, pepper, paprika and melted butter. Mix thoroughly and turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover and bake one hour in a hot oven. Remove cover for last few minutes to brown top if necessary.

The olives can of course be omitted and canned tomatoes and corn be substituted for fresh.

Enjoyable Party Saturday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Altkruse on Saturday evening entertained at a very delightful dinner and bridge party at the Dixon Community Club, honoring Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Leland, who are moving from Dixon to make their home in Rockford, much to the regret of their many Dixon friends.

A delicious four course dinner was served at the four tables, six guests being seated at each table. A novel and delightful idea was carried out, in having each table represent a season of the year. Spring was represented at a charming table in violet, with violet candles and the centerpiece formed of these dainty blossoms. The summer table wore a refreshing raiment of green, the centerpiece being a basket of lovely flowers, and green candles shed a mellow glow. Autumn's table bore a centerpiece of a pumpkin brimming with fruit, like the horn of plenty, orange candles adding the artistic finish; while the winter season, represented by the snowy white table, had as a centerpiece a plateau, or mirror, representing a frozen lake, and here stood a miniature Christmas tree, with sparkling snow all around and white tapers illuminated this table. The tallies and the favors corresponded to the decorations of each table.

Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth was awarded the favor for high honors for the ladies at bridge and H. A. Roe was awarded the high favor for the gentlemen.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland were presented guest favors at the close of the very enjoyable evening.

Miss Alice Hetler Guest of Honor

Mrs. Howard Hall was hostess Friday evening at charming party for her friend, Miss Alice Hetler, whose approaching marriage with Edward Rock, will be an event of the near future.

Bunco and five hundred were the evening's amusements. Mrs. John Hetler was awarded the first favor for five hundred; and Mrs. A. Starkey was awarded the second favor. Mrs. Roy Matthews was awarded the first favor at bunco and Mrs. Ernest Hetler was awarded the second favor.

The Hall home was gay with autumn flowers in brilliant colorings. After the bunco and five hundred the twenty guests held a kitchen shower for Miss Hetler and she received some useful and desirable gifts with the best wishes of all for her happiness.

On Thursday evening thirty neighbors and friends held a surprise shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hetler of West First street, in honor of their daughter, Miss Alice Hetler, who is soon to wed Edward Rock. Five hundred and bunco were enjoyed during the evening. Mrs. Walter Taylor won the first favor for five hundred and Mrs. Mabel Mealey won the first favor for bunco.

At the close of the enjoyable evening Miss Hetler was presented with many beautiful gifts in a miscellaneous shower, with the best wishes of her many friends for her future happiness.

Missionary Society Meeting Enjoyed

The ladies of the Missionary Society of St. James church met on Thursday with Rev. and Mrs. Henry Fischer with a good attendance. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn given in the monthly program, followed by Scripture reading by Rev. Fischer. The monthly lesson was conducted by Mrs. Martha Shippert, assisted by different members present. "Jezebel and Dido," was read by Mrs. Lillian Shippert; "The Story of the Hour," by Mrs. Leon Burket. Rev. Fischer told of the mission work in New Guinea, also work in New Africa.

Mrs. Shippert also favored with a reading "Courtney," which was much enjoyed. Then followed a song by Mrs. Lillian Shippert and Rev. Fischer which was much enjoyed. "When the Gates Swing Out." The meeting closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Fischer then invited all to the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served. With the appearance of a large tempting birthday cake, with the required number of candles, the birthday of the hostess was announced, and all were loyal in entering into the spirit of the day and making the remainder of the meeting a happy one for the hostess.

IRENE CASTLE MAKES OWN FASHION RULES

Paris (AP)—"I don't care whether they're this season's style or last, just so they're my style," Irene Castle informed Jean Charles Worth as she placed an order for half a dozen evening dresses, only one of them a new model.

"What I go by is my own taste and figure," she explained with a smile to protesting Monsieur Worth.

The new Worth model which the former dancer ordered is of black net with a full skirt which just clears her heels in back. It has a slim bodice. A wide tulle ruche, modern version of the boa of 1900, goes with the dress.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"REALITY" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 23.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 119:80, 90, "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations: thou hast established the earth, and it abideth."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil" (Proverbs 4:26, 27).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit" (p. 451).

Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. The fiftieth anniversary convention program has been built around the theme "Our True Objective." In announcing the program, L. L. Webster, state president declared that facing the gathering would be problems no less acute and no less vital than those which concerned the first gathering fifty years ago.

With the exception of the banquet all sessions will be held in the Ottawa Street Methodist church.

Dr. John Gordon, pastor of the Second Congregational church of Rockford, Illinois, will be the principal speaker at the banquet Friday evening closing the first day's meeting. The banquet will be given by the Joliet Chamber of Commerce. A feature will be the presentation of a tabloid, "Young Men Dynamics," in which "Y" members from Chicago Central, West Side, the C. and N. W. department, and the Freeport, Ill., association will participate.

V. M. Hanhibaksh, one of the national secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. of India, now in this country in the interests of his work, will be one of the speakers of the meeting. NEWS CHURCHES

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

North Side
Rev. Frank Brandfleiner, Pastor
Christ died for our sins.

The semi-annual congregational meeting of the church will be held on Wednesday evening. Every member is urged to be present.

Wed. evening we have two prayer services to which every member of the family is invited. These services contribute much to the spiritual nature of God's children and we hope every family will be represented.

2:30 p. m. the Ladies Aid society will hold its regular monthly meeting at the church.

The message of Rev. Gilbrook last evening was appreciated by the large audience that was present to hear of the work of God in Russia. His words, as well as his songs, were a means of help and encouragement to all.

A Christian is one who has been born spiritually anew, which is the promised result of believing in the Deity of Christ and His Atoning work on the Cross of Calvary, and appropriating Him as a personal Saviour. If this is your experience, it will manifest itself by a heart of assurance, an open confession, an inner change and an outward life of good works. (Eph. 2:10.)

A welcome awaits you at every service.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

The Church's Annual Every-Member-Canvass, begun by weekly pledges from the members in attendance at church services yesterday, will be continued through personal solicitation conducted by picked teams of the men. A good offering was received at the evening service, for the storm sufferers in Florida and Porto Rico.

Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Ortgiesen, 521 S. Ottawa Ave., will entertain the monthly Workers' Conference of the Bible School. With the return of the minister, Midweek Prayers will be resumed, Wednesday evening.

Friday night, the parsonage will be the gathering place for the choir in their weekly rehearsal. A picnic supper will be served at six o'clock.

Monday-Thursday of next week, the Annual State Convention of Christian Churches will convene in the Central Church, Peoria. This assembly, in which seven hundred five congregations are represented, will be a signal occasion. The program is the strongest for years. Names to be found on it are: Dean Thompson of Illinois University; Dean Willet of the University of Chicago; Stephen J. Corey, H. O. Pritchard, J. H. Booth, P. E. Smith, Dr. C. U. Collins, B. J. Radford, Stephen H. Zandt, and others. By no means least will be a rousing temperance session, with an address by the inimitable and unquenchable prohibitionist, Dr. H. H. Peters, on the subject, "The Battle for the XVIIIth Amendment."

The Dixon minister's Michigan vacation was one of the most pleasant he ever enjoyed. For the fourth year he served two rural congregations in Benzie County during the month. Twenty-one new members were added as a result, this year, and a general progressive spirit enlarged in these churches, which are in a section sadly in need of year-around pastoral care.

NEVER BEFORE A REMEDY LIKE IT, SAY OF GLY-CAS

Prompt Relief, Lasting Benefits of Great New Compound Amazing to Dixon People.

Possibly never before has a medicine received such widespread and sincere praise as is now being accorded this great new vegetable compound, Gly-Cas, all over Dixon and vicinity. Hundreds of people know from actual experience that Gly-Cas is no more like ordinary present-day medicines than day is like night. Surprising statements continue to be received at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy in praise of Gly-Cas, such as the following:

"In my opinion, the highest praise I can give Gly-Cas is hardly enough in return for what this medicine has done for me," says Mrs. H. Hetler, 622 Hennepin Ave., Dixon.

"Several years ago I contracted rheumatism which settled in the joints of my body," she continued. "With the joints of my arms, limbs and shoulders so severely affected I could hardly get around at all. Parts of my body would sometimes swell twice their normal size and with all this pain and suffering I could get very little rest at night. As a consequence I was tired and listless through the day."

"I tell you, I was in despair of ever feeling better or ridding myself of the terrible rheumatism—that's why I feel that Gly-Cas has been of such wonderful value to me. It has been almost miraculous the way Gly-Cas cleansed my system of impurities and subsequently the rheumatism. In two months I have used three boxes of Gly-Cas and I feel better than I have for years. All the rheumatic swelling is gone from the affected parts and likewise practically all of my former pain and misery has ended. I sleep well now, have gained the most of my strength back and I just feel the highest praise for Gly-Cas is not enough."

Gly-Cas sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Sold Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives, Polo, C. R. Clothier, Ashton, G. E. Charters, Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug, Compton, W. H. Hills, Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.

Fred High Says—

The job of merchandising these days is not a soft snap—the day of "Keeping Store" has passed. Competition has speeded up on all lines to a point where only the most alert and the best fitted can hope to survive.

Not only is competition getting keener and keener, but the little lumps shown in the above cartoon are requiring more attention each year. Take the advertising imp. If used rightly, he builds up the merchant's business, gives support to the local newspaper, and benefits the public. But if used as many merchants use him, he destroys two of the most necessary institutions in a community—the local store and the local newspaper—and thus does the public an injury.

I have selected a half-page advertisement of a shoe merchant as an example of the harmful advertising used by a great proportion of merchants, occasionally by the great department stores, but more frequently by neighborhood stores in large cities and stores in the smaller cities and towns.

This half page advertisement was in a January newspaper. The main item in the advertisement is described as follows: Women's Pumps, Straps, etc. Shoes in this group that sold for $10.00 now $2.50.

Let us analyze this and see why this sort of advertising is destructive to the merchant's business, the newspaper and the community welfare.

The shoes cost the merchant $4.00 a pair. His carrying costs and his selling costs have run his investment up $3.00 more, making the actual investment in each pair $9.00. When he sells them at $2.50 a pair, he actually sustains a loss of $7.10 on each pair sold.

The merchant reasoned that the shoes were out of style and out of season, and therefore had to be sold at a loss. But did he put the blame for his troubles where it belonged? No, a man who is losing money is inclined to put the blame on everybody but himself, so he said that advertising did not pay.

In this case the first mistake was in over-buying. But after these shoes were bought, the merchant should have redoubled his sales energies in an effort to sell the shoes when they were being sold for $10.

The facts are, merchants use half-page broadsides to advertise their left-over summer goods in winter when they should use full pages to sell their winter goods. In the spring we see them using half pages to sell winter goods when they should be using full pages to sell the spring styles. In the late summer they put on big sales to sell spring goods.

When they fail to make a profit out of this marked-down, out-of-season merchandise, they say, "Advertising doesn't pay. We're through with it." And when anyone who has used advertising says that advertising does not pay, he injures the newspaper in which he has been advertising.

When one notes such forms of advertising and merchandising can one feel any surprise at the following statement of A. H. Geuting, President of the National Shoe Retailers Association: "The average life of a shoe store is but seven years. From 80 percent to 85 percent of the shoe retailers could not liquidate and be counted a good risk. One of the great reasons for the shoe retailers' failure is the fact that they operate their business on a traditional basis, from something handed down to them, something they have learned in the past. Times have changed and today the risk in merchandising shoes is five times as great as it was in former days. Shoe merchants are marking-up as they did formerly, when shoes were very rarely marked down. Today, shoe mark-downs average between five and six per cent of gross sales."

Merchants today, more than ever before, need to do some clear thinking. They must learn to buy to better advantage, they must train their sales forces along scientific lines, and they must advertise in season, so that when sales are made there is a profit and not a loss.

Illinois Briefs

Springfield—(AP)—A filling station owner's scheme to get business may prove costly as the result of a ruling by Attorney General Carlstrom.

In Douglas county a filling station owner, who also operates a barbecue stand, desired to have an open air dance platform, the music and incidental to be free. He asked the state's attorney if he would have to have a roadhouse license.

"The fact that there is no direct charge," Carlstrom ruled, "does not alter the situation. The dance platform would be maintained for profit for the intention undoubtedly is to use it as an inducement to patronize the filling station and barbecue stand."

Beardstown—(AP)—Floods and watermelons will play leading roles in a celebration here next year.

In 1929, the city of Beardstown plans to commemorate its 100th birthday. In the three-day centennial the committee in charge announced "no phase of Beardstown's history will be omitted."

Thus floods, which have contributed most to the city's notoriety and watermelons, chief mainstay of the city's pocketbook, will be outstanding players in the pageant which will climax the celebration.

Delvers into the history of the city have discovered that Beardstown was originally founded with an eye to military necessity.

Roaming the Illinois valley in the early days was a tribe known as the Muscogees, which, while warlike, was somewhat more retiring than their neighbors, the Peorians.

The Muscogees, therefore, chose for a village an island, by one side of which the Illinois river flowed, and surrounded on all other sides by marshes and swamps. Their position was nearly impregnable.

To this site the white men came in 1827, led by Thomas Beard. Two years later the reign of the white men was officially established with the founding of the village of Beardstown.

Decision to observe the centennial having been made, the local chamber of commerce already has started working on plans, and predict that the celebration will be the most elaborate ever held in the city.

Such historical events as the building of the first log cabin, at the foot of what is now State street; the first Beardstown flood many years ago; and the flood's downfall, encompassed by construction of the newly completed sea-wall, will probably be included in the pageant.

Springfield—(AP)—Provincial, state and world health problems will be discussed at a conference of state and public health officers and nurses from all over Illinois in Chicago, Oct. 15 and 16.

Details of the conference, which will be held jointly with the American Public Health association, were announced by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director.

The health officers were invited to meet to discuss their own problems and listen to addresses by distinguished sanitarians who have been secured from other states and foreign countries to address the American Public Health association, which will concern itself primarily with suppressing disease and promoting health in this state only.

"Our program has three features," Dr. Rawlings said. "They are local problems and activities, state and provincial health work and world health service."

"Every health officer, sanitarian, director and public health nurse in the state will have a chance to pour out before the conference his or her grievances or describe the most satisfactory achievement or the most perplexing problem that has marked the year's work. This feature is expected to provoke the liveliest interest and give local health workers a clear idea of the most recent practical methods of disease control."

Peoria—(AP)—Gray dust of 100 years has settled down on a little book in the county clerk's office here; its pages are yellow with age and the link upon them has turned a rusty brown.

It was new when the republic was emerging from infancy into youth. When Peoria county's pioneers sent away to the east to buy this book Chicago was in Peoria county. James Monroe was drawing his administration too close, while Abraham Lincoln a 16 year old boy was splitting rails. It had been only a few years since America had fought its second war with England.

This book is the county commissioners' record "commenced March 8, 1825."

In it a court order may be found which has never been rescinded making it illegal to sell whisky in Peoria county for more than 18 3/4 cents a pint. This order was written during the June term of court in 1827.

Two years later the following order was written in the book:

Ordered that a license be granted to Archibald Caldwell to keep a tavern in Chicago and that he pay a tax of $8—and be allowed the following rates—and give bond with security for $100—towit:

Each half pint of wine, rum or brandy 25 cents
Pint 37 1/2 cents
One-half pint gin 18 1/2 cents
Gill of whisky 6 1/2 cents
Breakfast, dinner or supper 25 cents
Night's lodging 12 1/2 cents
Keeping horse over night on grain and hay 25 cents
Ditto—24 hours 37 1/2 cents
Horse feed 12 1/2 cents
During this same year John Hamlin was paid $75 for "a certain log house situated in the town of Peoria" to be used as Peoria county's first court house.

Chicago—(AP)—Publication of "The Front Page," a newspaper play written by two former Chicago newspaper men, has brought an adequate knowledge west, of the stir the stage production is causing in New York.

Written by Ben Hecht, and Charles MacArthur, one time Chicago police reporters, the play is laid in the press room in the criminal courts building. There are gathered seven reporters of Chicago newspapers, playing cards while they wait for the hour at which a murderer of a policeman is to be hanged.

Here are, the authors say, the "newspapermen of our youth," and add "Schools of Journalism and the advertising business have nearly extirpated the species."

This play has been running since August 14 in New York, and has been greeted by every manner of criticism from extreme approval to extreme condemnation, because of the play's realism.

LIE COSTS TIME

Reading, Pa.—It's cheaper to tell the truth. A man charged with stealing a truck and a load of produce told Judge H. Robert Mays that it was his first offense, and was sentenced to one year in jail. Then the judge discovered the defendant had lied, whereupon the original sentence was doubled.

140 YEARS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL PARADE

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

(Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.) Washington, Sept. 24—The first two presidential elections were landslide. George Washington, unopposed, was elected unanimously in 1789 and 1792. But in his two terms gigantic issues shaped. They decided subsequent elections and many of them are with us today. The Fathers met them boldly.

In 12 years these now familiar issues arose: Corruption in high office, tariff, law enforcement—in the case of the whisky tax, debt funding, taxes, election fraud, religion, immigration, civil liberty, social rights, special privilege, the condition of agriculture, sectionalism, prosperity and many more. King George III was then far more than Mayor Bill Thompson's red herring.

These were the problems in the historical struggle between the Federalist party of Washington and the Republican or Democratic Republican party of Jefferson. Hamilton and Monroe. Some embraced the serious possibility of civil war and national downfall. Overshadowing all was the question whether the United States should be a dictatorship of Hamilton's propertied aristocrats or a democracy of Jefferson's men of merely ordinary station.

Aristocrats vs. Masses
The first election was held in January, 1789. Rhode Island and North Carolina had not ratified the new Constitution and did not send electors. Hamilton's proposal to elect a president and Senate for life had been defeated, but most people thought of the presidency in terms of royalty. The controlling influence was that of merchants, clergy-men and "the well-born."

Each state elected—most often through the legislature—an elector for each member of Congress. Each elector had two votes. High man became president and next highest vice president.

Unanimous for Washington
The New York legislature fought over which house should pick the electors until too late to pick any. Only 69 of an entitled 91 electors showed up at New York city to elect. A Maryland elector had the gout, ice in the bay blocked a second and two Virginians were A. W. O. L. All the 39 went to Washington.

Favorite sons distinguished for the vice presidency. The Federalist Fathers promptly saw the wisdom of picking "His Superlunary Excellency" geographically and John Adams of Massachusetts won with 34 votes. Democrats like Sam Adams and John Hancock had been considered, but John Jay, New York Federalist, was next with 9.

John Adams apparently had considered himself for first place. Hamilton, fearing needlessly that his vote might equal Washington's, sent word to electors to split the ticket. The Adams-Hamilton feud began.

Washington was inaugurated grandly in New York and appointed Hamilton as secretary of the treasury and Jefferson as secretary of state. As a president, Washington seems to have been a great soldier. He was guided almost entirely by Hamilton, whose differences with the Democratic Jefferson split the country into two great parties, for Jefferson began to organize the opposition from within the cabinet.

Macaulay traces political division to instinctive psychological differences between progressive and conservative minds; Brander Matthews adds that some persons were "intuitive Hamiltonians," believing in government by the well-born, and others "intuitive Jeffersonians," trusting the people. Bryce decided superficially that our parties sprang from the dispute over federal and state rights. Dr. Charles A. Beard emphasizes the industrial-agricultural split between north and south. Jefferson complained that Hamilton's economic measures exploited one section of society for the benefit of another.

Hamilton always opposed to what he called "the swinish multitude," bossed his party and his government. He established the national credit but caused a tremendous outcry by his plan to pay off the national and state debts and create a federal bank in such a way as to enrich speculators and stockjobbers. There were many of both in Congress. Congressmen and others sent fast ships and fast coaches to remote sections in order to buy up government paper at 10 or 15 cents on the dollar before poor old soldiers and other holders could learn of Hamilton's plan.

This spurred the new anti-Federalist movement, of which Jefferson and James Madison were recognized as leaders as early as 1791. Then the nation divided violently over the French Revolution. Hamilton and the aristocrats became pro-English and anti-French; the Jeffersonians vice versa. Tom Paine wrote "The Rights of Man," which defended the French revolutionists and had a tremendous vogue among American Democrats.

Jefferson Organizes
Jefferson began to organize. His appeal was to the preponderant number of farmers and planters, the mistreated war veterans and some prominent Democrats who hated the aristocrats. But he needed leaders and by correspondence, he lined them up throughout the erstwhile colonies. At the outset this founder of the Democratic party had the support of the Sons of Tammany in New York. Elsewhere he recruited such popular heroes as Sam Adams, Hancock, Franklin, Monroe, Gallatin, Maclay and William Lloyd.

Not caring or daring to attack Washington—the aristocrat who wanted to be called "His Mightiness, the President of the United States"—they put up Governor George Clinton of New York against John Adams for vice president in the 1792 election.

Washington was re-elected by 132 electoral votes. Clinton carried New York, Virginia and North Carolina, losing to Adams 77 to 60. This was the first test of strength in this country's first great political struggle.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS INDEPENDENTS IN ANOTHER VICTORY CLAIM THE TITLE

Willing to Give Any Challenger Chance to Prove Worth

The Dixon Independents claim to have clinched the Blackhawk League title by taking the third straight game from Millidgeville Sunday afternoon by a score of 9 to 0, in which Reddish again proved too much for the Carroll county boys, whom he allowed but six hits, while everyone of the Dixon players hit safely one or more times.

Dixon started right after the bacon in the first inning when they pushed over five runs.

By winning this series from Millidgeville the Independents claim to have established their claim to the championship of the league. They won more games than any team which completed the schedule, they affirm, and they promise that any other claimant to the title will be given an opportunity to defend their claims in a series of games for the crown. If no challenge is received, the Independents' management says, it will be proof there is no question about Dixon's superiority.

Lott and Hennessey Defeat Australians

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—Another foreign tennis threat has been turned back and George Lott and Johnny Hennessey of Indianapolis are the new National Intercollegiate team champions.

Fighting back in the face of defeat, Lott and Hennessey, representing the Western Lawn Tennis Association, won the title on the turf courts of the Chicago Town & Tennis Club yesterday by whipping the young Australian team of Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, 1-6, 6-4, 12-10, in one of the hardest fought doubles matches of the year.

The doubles match went to deuce no less than 12 times before the Americans could break through for a victory. Only Hennessey's brilliancy saved the title from passing westward across the Pacific.

WORLD'S SERIES WILL BE FIGHT OF KEEN MINDS

No Matter What Aggregations Win it Will be Battle

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—The world's series figures to bring about another conflict of master minds, no matter how the hot and heavy pennant races finish.

Of the five clubs that still have any kind of a chance to get into baseball's big money classic, the manager of only one, Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs, lacks experience in the series. The Cubs are a long shot, anyway, but if they should happen to perform the miracle and come through, McCarthy won't concede much in the battle of wits.

If it's the Yankees and the Cardinals again, Miller Huggins will have somewhat the edge on his St. Louis rival, Bill McKechnie, in experience, whether or not that has any decisive bearing. The diminutive Yankee pilot has been through five of the last seven of baseball's world wars but McKechnie had a good workout when he led the Pittsburgh Pirates to an uphill victory over Washington in the memorable 1925 series. Bill therefore has a perfect batting average, at any rate, to stack up against Miller's record of two victories and three setbacks.

Here are the comparative world's series record of the pilots of contending clubs:

Manager	Series	Games
Connie Mack	W. L.	W. L.
Bill McKechnie	3 2	13 12
Miller Huggins	1 0	4 3
John McGraw	2 3	14 15
	3 6	26 28

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

With the wire and pennant victory in full view, baseball's thoroughbreds gallop down the major league home stretch in a driving finish so hot and furious that even at this late stage the naked eye can not, with certainty, discern the ultimate winners.

With only a week to go, the pennant struggle in each league has developed into a duel rather than a general free-for-all engagement.

In the National the fight lies between the St. Louis Cardinals and John McGraw's New York Giants with the Chicago Cubs still mathematical contenders. Only a game separates Bill McKechnie's club, in first place, from the runner-up.

Giants while the Cubs trail New York by three and a half games.

Two games ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics, their sole rivals, Miller Huggins' New York Yankees are odds-on favorites to win their third American League pennant in a row. Although all of these contenders were in action yesterday there was no change in their relative positions.

The Giants had the closest escape. They were carried to 14 innings before they could nose out the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1 in one of the finest games of the season at the Polo Grounds. Joe Genewich, for the Giants held the Reds to five hits during the entire game and strangely enough, was lucky to win. The Reds entered the first half of the ninth with the score tied at one-all. Wally Pipp led off with a triple and it appeared that nothing could prevent the big first baseman from scoring. But Jimmy Welsh came to Genewich's rescue, his rifle throw catching Pipp at the plate when he tried to score on Allen's fly to center field. The game was finally won on Jackson's line single in the 14th, scoring Lindstrom who had singled.

The Cardinals met this Giant victory with one of their own over Brooklyn, 7 to 1.

The Yanks and Athletics kept step in the American League, the champions defeating Cleveland, 5 to 1, while the A's were defeating Dan Howley's St. Louis Browns, 11 to 7.

Lena Blackburne's Chicago White Sox moved up into a tie for fourth place with Washington by turning back the Senators in the first game of the series, 8 to 3. Ted Lyons pitched effectively while Marberry was being slashed for 11 hits that came in bunches.

At Detroit Phil Page, Eastern League recruit, won his second major league victory in as many starts when the Tigers beat Boston, 4 to 1. Page allowed seven hits, four of which went to Bobby Myer. Six double plays and seven errors showed in the Sox score.

Amboy High School's Team is Victorious

The Amboy township high school football team launched their 1928 season Saturday in a blaze of glory when they journeyed to Walnut and defeated the high school team of that city by a score of 28 to 6. Coach Dominetta's warriors were on edge after a hard practice season and gave a very good account of themselves.

The practice sessions this week will be turned over to shaping up some of the rough spots which were apparent in Saturday's game and getting in readiness for the Dixon high school.

News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—Training camp gossip indicates the two "upset" teams of the Big Ten, Wisconsin and Ohio State, will be up to their favorite pranks of spoiling championship hopes this season.

Both teams, which haven't won Conference titles in years, have great possibilities this year and while most critics do not think they can come out on top, they do agree they will be troublesome.

Wisconsin's hopes have been buoyed by the best sophomore squad in many years and Coach Glen Thistlethwaite is driving his large number of candidates at full force to prepare them for the Notre Dame invasion of October 6.

Ohio State, long a nemesis for Illinois, is improving rapidly and Coach Wilce, who is at the Buckeye helm for the last time, asserts the team that beats Ohio State will have probably the best chance for the championship.

Chicago and Indiana open their season Saturday when the Maroons meet the University of South Carolina and Ripon College at Chicago, and the Hoosiers clash with Wabash College and Terre Haute State Normal at Bloomington in double headers.

With 13 men on the ineligibility list and several on the sidelines with injuries, Coach Stage has a stiff task ahead of him. Coach Page of the Hoosiers has been driving his candidates hard and his squad looks good and ready for the fray.

Europe Trims U. S. at Tennis Easily

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—Once more Europe has taken away the palm from America on the tennis courts. In three straight matches, Karel Kozeluh of Czechoslovakia, defeated Vincent Richards, American champion, in their series for the world's title, winning the final match yesterday by scores of 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. The first two matches were played in Europe.

High School Elevens Play in Lamp Light

Westville, Ill., Sept. 22—(AP)—What is thought to have been the Twenty eight lights, 1000 watts each, in front of powerful reflectors, made it possible for players and fans to follow the white football with ease.

DIPLOMACY Hoover Has Had Wide Diplomatic Experience

Hoover's diplomatic skill developed gradually during the many years, when as a private American business man, operating large enterprises in foreign countries, he had to deal with many governments. While feeding Belgium, Hoover solved unprecedented diplomatic entanglements. Again and again his diplomatic genius quieted the fears on both sides, and he gained permission from both warring factions to continue the work. Probably no other human being has ever induced so many great governments to make so many concessions to his purposes in such a serious international crisis. All the while Hoover had no force behind him except the force of public opinion in a righteous cause. We need a man like that for President.

The Bunion Derby

By M. C. Harding, M. D., San Diego, California

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

To most people a bunion means an enlarged and painful joint at the base of the great toe. In reality it is composed of several different conditions, any one of which may give rise to trouble. First is the callous or corn. This may or may not be present and painful—at least half have no callous. Next is the bursa, or water sac, lying between the skin and bone. If inflamed this is apt to be most painful. The enlargement of the joint is mostly new bony growths, called exostoses, piled up in knobs, and caused by long continued irritation either from inflammation or mechanical pressure. Lastly, there is deformity of the bone. In all cases the toe is bent toward the other toes, while in many the deformity is increased by the metatarsal bone being deflected toward the inner border of the foot like the hand bone attached to the thumb. This latter type of foot is usually hereditary and leads to the most deforming type of bunion.

Most people attribute their bunions to wearing short shoes. While this is of some importance it is not of as much as is usually thought. The hereditary foot just mentioned cannot help but have a deformed great toe if any shoe is worn; there is simply no other place for the toe to go! Whether the other factors—corn, exostoses, etc.—are added depends on inflammation. Here is the important thing—inflammation—whether from infection or pressure of shoes. Arthritis, or rheumatism, is the underlying cause and outstanding feature of the most painful types of bunions. It is usually only a part of a chronic arthritis affecting especially the small joints, and may either be a primary cause of enlargement, or complicate a bunion already formed mechanically.

In choosing treatment we must consider carefully what kind we are dealing with. The simple painful corn may be removed by a corn plaster and sand paper, being kept thin and pliable at all times. Additional protection can be had by a felt ring. Soreness caused by use is best relieved by contrast bathing—dipping the foot rapidly into hot, then cold water, and followed with an alcohol pack. Cases of arthritis call for the best of medical care and are usually stubborn, as the necessary use of the foot does not allow sufficient rest. The most important thing is a proper shoe. This is not always easy to secure, as these feet do not conform to store models. Secure the best shape possible in soft leather, then patiently insist on stretching and re-stretching of a pocket to slip the bunion. A shoe wide enough to fit is more apt to irritate than a fairly snug one well pocketed out for tender spots.

The question of operation is one to be carefully weighed. Bunions with arthritis should not be operated until the disease is thoroughly quieted, and even then a flare-up may occur with as much pain as before. Other types may be safely operated for cosmetic reasons, relief of pain, or inability to fit shoes. Except in cases with arthritis, operation is safe and satisfactory, but should not be resorted to until palliative methods have been thoroughly tried.
